When I scroll to the bottom of the table, I get this white artifact at the bottom of the image. Any idea what causes this? I've tried various layouts and it doesn't seem to make a difference. -

(UICollectionViewCell *)collectionView:(UICollectionView *)collectionView cellForItemAtIndexPath:(NSIndexPath *)indexPath { UICollectionViewCell *cell = [collectionView dequeueReusableCellWithReuseIdentifier:@"cell" forIndexPath:indexPath]; UICollectionViewFlowLayout *layout = (UICollectionViewFlowLayout *)[collectionView dequeueReusableCellWithReuseIdentifier:@"FlowLayout" forIndexPath:indexPath]; // Layout options [layout setScrollDirection:UICollectionViewScrollDirectionVertical]; [layout setItemSize:CGSizeMake(331, 50)]; // This layout sets the horizontal size based on the number of rows. // Let the image size be the total width of the cell (including the padding) [layout setItemSize:CGSizeMake(331, (int) ((layout.itemSize.height - 375.0 - 5.0) / 5.0))]; // This layout sets the vertical size of the cell based on the height of the image. [layout setItemSize:CGSizeMake(350, 300)]; // Since the image will be smaller than the cell, the cell has a padding on the left and right // This padding is equal to the width of the cell [layout setItemInsets:UIEdgeInsetsMake(2, 2, 2, 2)]; CGSize layoutSize = layout.collectionViewLayout.collectionViewContentSize; layoutSize.width = 350; layout.collectionViewLayout.minimumInteritemSpacing = 5.0; layout.collectionViewLayout.minimumLineSpacing = 6
